

International Society for Augmentative & Alternative Communication
www.isaac-online.org

Augmentative and Alternative Communication Awareness Month October 2009

*ISAAC'S GOAL IS TO PROMOTE THE HUMAN RIGHTS
OF PEOPLE WHO USE AAC THROUGH FULL PARTICIPATION, EQUALIZATION OF OPPORTUNITY AND DEVELOPMENT.*

This year's theme is:

Many Methods, One Goal: To Communicate

People who use AAC use many methods to communicate. Show the world the methods of AAC you use with different people, in different places, about different things. Teach the world that communication is important and how AAC helps you. Work on your own or in teams, or ask someone to write for you or film you. Send your submission by 15 September 2009 to add to the:

Many Methods, One Goal Online Collection

Send us your photos, slideshows, movies, poems, essays and stories.

It's up to you! Read from Many Stories, One Voice the 2008 Online Collection this October to show how you use AAC to read. Or tell us how you use AAC to write. If you wrote in 2008, tell us how you did it and we'll add your description to your story. Help us make any of the stories more accessible by, for example, adding navigation or narration to a PowerPoint. All ideas welcome!

If your movie is on YouTube, send us the link!

For more information visit: www.aacawareness.org

Email us: info@aacawareness.org Submit to: contest@aacawareness.org

*AAC means Augmentative & Alternative Communication – other ways to speak for people with communication impairments - like electronic talking aids, computers, books and boards with pictures, words or letters, Talking Mats, Communication Passports, and sign language.